

STEAKSAUCE MUSTACHE

Combining the artistic sensibilities of Adult Swim, the mathematic ferocity of The Dillinger Escape Plan, and the fashion sense of a toddler, Steaksauce Mustache is a band destined to conquer the world, as well as your heart. I mean come on, just look at the page you're on right now (unless you downloaded the unfun version, dork).

Known for their wild live performances, reckless use of toilet paper, and relentless potty humor, Steaksauce Mustache has traveled from coast to coast healing society with music. Along the way, Steaksauce has shared the stage with breathtaking and super-famous acts such as HORSE the band, Okilly Dokilly, The Number 12 Looks Like You, Moon Tooth, The Ghost Inside, I Set My Friends on Fire, and several more. One time they pretended they were opening for Metallica in Tulare, CA.

But don't take it from me, check out the great stuff others are saying:

"If you need some chaos in your life, then you need Steaksauce Mustache."

- PEN, PAPER, AND BREAKDOWNS

"Check out the video below, followed by the album art and tracklisting."

- METALSUCKS.NET

"Ultimately, Avatar: The Way Of Water is just not all that good or cerebral or exciting."

-ERIK KAIN, FORBES.COM

Steaksauce Mustache can be contacted through their many social media links found on steaksaucemustache.com, steaksaucemustache@gmail.com, or by showing up to their homes in Austin, TX.
